Chris O'Brien

Full stack developer

I have over a decade of experience in problem-solving, analytical-thinking, communication and leadership which I combine with my passion for coding, project management and scrum mastering to turn static designs into user-focused dynamic applications.

Experience

Full Stack Developer & Project Manager

</SALT> (School of Applied Technology), Stockholm, Sweden

Jan 2023 - Present

I was kept on at </SALT> to assist with the re-design and development of an application for internal use by the </SALT> sales team. I have also spent this time managing various projects undertaken by junior developers using agile and scrum methodologies.

Javascript Instructor

</SALT> (School of Applied Technology), Stockholm, Sweden

Aug 2022 - Jan 2023

</SALT> has a reputation for being one of the toughest coding bootcamps in Europe. After completing the Javascript full stack bootcamp I was offered a position as a Javascript Developer and Instructor. My responsibilities:

- Coaching individuals through the 13-week bootcamp.
- Presenting new concepts.
- Reviewing code and giving 1-to-1 feedback to students.

Teacher

Knightsbridge School, London, UK

Dec 2016 - Jan 2022

As a teacher I developed my skills in communication, and conflict resolution. It was here I developed an interest in coding whilst assisting the administrative team, streamlining the after-schools-clubs program by creating an application that improved access to information for all stakeholders and resulted in 30% reduction in requests for information.

Co-Founder & Product Designer

COB Originals, Shanghai, China

Aug 2014 - Dec 2016

A street-fashion brand celebrating Chinese city-culture and attitudes.

We worked with local designers and artists to create clothing and accessories that reflected Chinese and expat culture with fresh, contemporary and fun designs. My main responsibilities included:

- Designer & liaising with local designers/artists
- Website management & order fulfilment
- Content creation

Buyer & Quality Assurance

Swoon Editions, Shanghai, China

May 2014 - Dec 2016

Swoon Editions is a UK online retailer specialising in batch-production and rapid lead times, My responsibilities included:

- Collaborating with the buying team to source and select new furniture for the UK market
- Collaborating closely with manufacturers to uphold quality standards and meet delivery deadlines
